Hallie Erminie Rives's New Novel

SATAN SANDERSON

The career of the Rev. Harry Sanderson, known as "Satan" in his college days, who sowed the wind to reap the whirlwind and won at last through strangest penance the bright prize of love, seizes the reader in the strait grip of its feverish interest. Miss Rives has outdone herself in the invention of a love story that rings with lyric feeling and touches every fiber of the heart with strength and beauty.

Pictures in Color by Wenzell. $1.50

THE BOBBS-MERRILL COMPANY, PUBLISHERS

The Lady of the Decoration

"THE BEST SELLER"

THE STORY OF ITS SUCCESS

reads like a bit of fiction. The Century Co. issued it in April, 1906, and the sale during the first month was only 800 copies. It moved slowly for six months, but in November, 1906, it took a start, and in December three editions were needed to supply the demand. Since then the sale has gone on increasing until it has become not unusual for the publishers to sell 1000 and 2000 copies a day. Within a year of issue eleven printings were needed, and the fifteenth printing is now being sold—the sixteenth on the press.

THE BOOK TELLS

the absorbing story of a young woman's life in a series of remarkably clever letters. Through it all runs a tender love story. There is a "Jack" at home, and while "the lady" tries not to think of him, yet it is evident that he is uppermost in her thoughts. "It's all right to love humanity," she reflects sometimes, "but I was born a specialist."

NOTES IN SEASON.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & CO. have now ready Eugene P. Lyle's "The Lone Star" and the eagerly awaited "Memoirs of Adelaide Ristori," both fully described in our last issue.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & CO. report that the limited edition of "Some Unpublished Correspondence of David Garrick," edited by Professor George P. Baker, is now ready for delivery.

THE CENTURY COMPANY will publish this fall a new novel by Anne Douglas Sedgwick, a story of American life—with a most unusual and compelling plot, it is said—the scenes laid in Boston, New York and the Vermont hills.

BOBBS-MERRILL CO. have just issued "The Empire Builders," by Francis Lynde, author of "The Grafters," with pictures by Hambidge. The author has studied present conditions well and he also has literary experience to help him present his topic in interesting manner in the form of fiction.

MOFFAT, YARD & CO. have just ready a new book by Ellen Velvin, entitled "Wild Animal Celebrities," written from a point of view unfamiliar to the general reader. Like Miss Velvin's earlier book, "Behind the Scenes with Wild Animals," this book is the result of a study of wild animals in the great zoological gardens of Europe and America.

MCCLURE, PHILLIPS & CO. have in preparation "Daughters of the Little Grey House," by Marion Ames Taggart, which is a sequel to "The Little Grey House." They have also in preparation a work entitled "The Curse of the Romanoffs," a study of the reign of Paul I. and Alexander I., 1796-1825, by Dr. Angelo S. Rappaport.

LITTLE, BROWN & CO. have in preparation the third volume of the Old Deerfield Series of stories for young people, by Mary P. Wells Smith. It will be entitled "Boys of the Border," and will deal with the leading events of the French and Indian War from 1745 to 1755, especially the incidents connected with the line of forts along the northwestern Massachusetts border and up the Connecticut to the north.

JOHN LANE COMPANY, (The Bodley Head,) have just published a dramatic poem by Francis Coutts on the Arthurian legend under the title "King Arthur." Mr. Coutts has also rearranged the dialogue portions of the Book of Job, and this appears under the title "The Heresy of Job." A short illustrated biography of W. S. Gilbert, the famous English composer of comic opera, is contributed to the Stars of the Stage series, issued by the same house.

DODGE PUBLISHING CO. have grouped their many books of humor in this issue and they make a goodly showing. Nothing helps our several fortunes like a good laugh. It is safe to recommend for cheering effects: "It is to laugh," by Henry Kieffer; "Wisdom for the Wise," by Lorenzo Sosso; "Cosy Corner Confidences," by Walter Pulitzer; its companion volume, "A Cynic's Meditations," by same author, and any of the others of these tempting "helps" for cheerfulness.

B. W. DODGE & CO. will bring out next month a clever novel entitled "Feminine Finance," by Frances Crouch, which deals with the efforts of two women, friends, of extraordinarily-contrasted and well-drawn characters, to help another woman out of a difficulty, the doing of which requires money. Cousin Jim, a bachelor cousin of the woman to be helped, and from whom these women try to get the money, plays the star part. Among their early fall books are "The First Secretary," a novel, by Demetra and Kenneth Brown; "A Bird Cage," verses by Wallace Irwin, with drawings by Edna Morse; "The Noble Company of Adventurers," by Rufus Rockwell Wilson; and "Scars of the Southern Seas," by George Bronson Howard.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.

☞ The prices of net books published under the rules of the American Publishers' Association are preceded in this list by a double asterisk , and the word net follows the price. The prices of fiction (not net) published under the rules are preceded by a dagger †. The prices of net books not covered by the rules, whether published by members of the American Publishers' Association or not, are preceded by a single asterisk, and the word net follows the price. ☜

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

Galton, Francis. Probability, the foundation of eugenics; the Herbert Spencer lecture delivered on June 5, 1907. N. Y., Oxford University Press, (American. Branch.) 1907. 30 p. O. pap., 35 c.

The word "eugenics," meaning the science which treats of improvements and culture of race, especially the human race, through improved conditions in the relation of the sexes, was coined and used by the author in his book "Human faculty," published in 1883. In this lecture he dwells upon the need of full information about results, even to minds unfitted to cope with the details of the mathematical processes. He claims every average mind can be made to understand the importance of these results, and he maps out five lessons in which instruction might be made of working use for such minds.

Logie, Alfred E. Exercises and problems in physical and political geography. Chic., A. Flanagan Co., [1907.] c. 72 p. diagrs., S. pap., 25 c.

Author claims too much geographical instruction is memorized and too little demand is made on the reasoning faculties of the pupil. The book can be used with any text and should be of service in the review classes of grades 7 and 8. Many of the problems will require careful thinking and an application of knowledge gained in many studies.

Newman, Hugo. Laboratory exercises in elementary physics: a notebook for pupils. In 4 bks. Bk. 1, Measurement, gravity, mechanical powers. Bost., Ginn, [1907.] c. 32 p. il. diagrs., O. pap., $1.50 per dozen.

Author is principal of Public School 33, the Bronx, New York. These exercises present a complete course in elementary laboratory practice, adapted to pupils in the seventh and eighth years of the elementary school and in the first year of the high school. No complicated or expensive apparatus is required, and each exercise can be done in a period not exceeding forty minutes. The plan is to provide a notebook which places before the pupil a clear statement of the object of each exercise, specific directions for manipulation, a form in which to record his observations, and questions to guide him in arranging and expressing the results and inferences. The topics are distributed as follows: Bk. 1, Measurement, gravity, mechanical powers; Bk. 2, Mechanics of liquids and gases; Bk. 3, Sound and heat; Bk. 4, Light, magnetism, and electricity.

Editor is professor of Latin and Greek in the University of Birmingham, Eng. This edition has been entirely recast in order to bring it into touch with the results of Plautine criticism in recent years.

Plutarch. Plutarch's life of Julius Cæsar in North's translation; ed., with introd. and notes, by R. H. Carr. N. Y., Oxford University Press, (Amer. Branch,) 1907. 35+75 p. D. cl., 40 c.

Editor is a graduate of Trinity College, Oxford. The system adopted in the Notes is that mere references are given where Shakespeare appears to have borrowed subject-matter only and full quotations where he appears to have followed North's actual language. An Index contains a list of references to the play. The spelling has been modernized throughout.

Pratt, Ambrose. The counterstroke. N. Y., R. F. Fenno & Co., [1907.] 320 p. front. D. cl., *$1 net.

A story of intrigue of various parties in Russia and of the downfall of Nihilism. The plot is involved. The author of "Franks, duellist" puts his characters in many dangerous situations, but courage and love conquer all opposition. English, German and Russian ambassadors meet at the beginning in London, then often in other cities. Author holds strong opinions on the "Russian question."

Ragg, Lonsdale and Laura, eds. and trs. The gospel of Barnabas; ed. and tr. from the Italian ms. in the Imperial Library at Vienna. N. Y., Oxford University Press, (Amer. Branch,) 1907. 81+500 p. facs., O. cl., $5.25.

Rev. Lonsdale Ragg, British Chaplain at Venice, is editor of "Second book of Samuel" in "The Books of the Bible," "Christian evidences" in "Oxford Church text-books," "Aspects of the Atonement." Appended to the introduction are passages bearing on the Barnabas controversy from the 18th century writers. The index gives Scripture references. Where the text follows the Bible exactly the translators have adopted the language of the Revised Version.

Rives, Hallie Erminie. Satan Sanderson; with il. by A. B. Wenzell. Indianapolis, Ind., Bobbs-Merrill Co., [1907.] c. 400 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

"Satan" Sanderson was the college nick-name of a wild fellow, who afterwards became an Episcopal clergyman in a Western town. The plot turns upon his strong resemblance to a fellow student who did not reform but kept on his reckless life. The latter married his father's ward, but his sins found him out and he was not allowed to take her from his father's home. All through the story the reformed and the unrepentant sinner are constantly taken for each other under the most startling conditions.

Editor was a scholar of Somerville College, Oxford University. Introduction gives a chronological study of George Sand's books and a critical comparison of her work and that of her great contemporaries Balzac and George Eliot. "Jeanne" is interesting as the first of the author's books in which the pastoral element predominates. The annotations presuppose a general knowledge of history, mythology, geography, as this series is intended only for advanced students.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

AUGUST 17, 1907.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

JUDGE DOWLING'S DECISION IN THE MACY CASE.

WHAT was printed in an editorial note in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY of August 10 as a synopsis of the decision of Judge Dowling in the case of Macy vs. American Publishers' Association proves to be the full text of the decision itself. It is an application of previous decisions and obiter dicta to the pending case, and, as indicated in our editorial note, it is as important for what it does not say as for what it does say.

The decision, as stated, applies only to non-copyright books, but decides that in preventing Macy & Co. from obtaining non-copyright books the American Publishers' Association acted in restraint of trade contrary to the laws of the State of New York, and that the Macy Co. is entitled to damages therefor as proved before a referee. It is quite possible that the case may be appealed to the Court of Appeals, but as the Supreme Court justice applies the decision of Chief Justice Parker, of the highest court, the question is only whether Judge Dowling properly interpreted the application of the Chief Justice's opinion. It was an unfortunate mistake of the American Publishers' Association, as we have more than once pointed out, that it undertook to deal at all with non-copyright books.

The decision is one of several tending to clarify the law on the general subject involved, though it is quite possible that the legal status may not be fully settled until some case involving all the questions concerned reaches the Supreme Court of the United States on a question of copyright law. The pith of the matter, as we have before said, is that the proprietor of a copyright book is entitled to obtain such price as he may decide to ask for his product. He may take all reasonable steps to prevent the sale of his book at a lower price, and the courts have gone far to protect him in this right. But he may not enter into a combination for this purpose which transgresses the law of conspiracy; that is, a number of publishers may not combine to punish an individual for cutting prices on a copyright book issued by another party or by one of their own number without danger of being considered members of a conspiracy. Besides this, and on different grounds, a combination of publishers, or even an individual publisher, must in New York and other States keep within the State laws respecting restraint of trade. This means practically that where there are competing editions or goods unprotected by copyright or patent law, a manufacturer seeking to protect his prices must be careful to do so only by direct means and not by any sort of combination, coercion or boycott. He can still refuse to sell his own property except under certain conditions, but the law does not go far in protecting prices of such commodities beyond the first seller.

The American Publishers' Association, though it must pay the penalty of its mistake in the present case, has now put itself in a strong position by confining itself to copyright books and by freeing its members from any question of combination or conspiracy by making its former agreement simply the basis of recommendation to individual members. While it is a fact that the trend of recent decisions was not foreseen and safeguarded against, it must nevertheless be said that much has been accomplished, both positively and negatively, and that the decisions both pro and contra in clearing the air have left booktrade reform in a pretty satisfactory condition.

POSTAL MATTERS.

LIMIT OF WEIGHT CONTENTS OF MAIL SACKS.

THE attention of publishers, newsdealers, news agents and others is invited to the following extract from the postal laws and regulations, and to the following order issued by the Post Office Department, and they are informed that the requirements set forth therein must be invariably observed in preparing matter for mailing:

"Not more than 150 pounds of mail matter must be placed in a sack which is to be despatched as closed mail or to a railway post office or post offices for distribution.

"Postmasters will notify publishers, newsdealers, and others shipping large quantities of matter by mail of this requirement."

"Division Superintendents of Railway Mail Service and Postmasters are instructed to notify their employees that not more than 150 pounds of mail matter must be placed in a sack which is to be despatched as closed mail or to a railway post office or post offices for distribution. These officers will also kindly notify publishers, newsdealers and others shipping large quantities of matter by mail of the nature of these instructions and request their co-operation in relieving those who handle mail of this character in bulk from the hardship and physical exhaustion that result from the lifting of sacks containing over 150 pounds of mail matter."

COMMUNICATIONS.

BOOKS FOR CLERKS' USE.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

WE have had a great difficulty in the past to get clerks in our "Recent Fiction" department to read the reviews of forthcoming books—something which, in our estimation, is very important to have done, in the interest of publisher and dealer alike.

We find, however, that clerks are willing to read the book, if not the review. In this connection we find that the book loaned them is returned in nearly every instance soiled and unfit for sale.

We would suggest to the publisher, as a happy medium, to have sent the retailer from the binder gathered and sewed, but unbound, copies of their forthcoming fall fiction which they hope to see in the list of the "six best."

If thought necessary, the copies could be stamped "Sample" or "Not to be sold."

We are firmly convinced that this suggestion, if carried out, would not only relieve the retailer of a great deal of trouble, but would materially increase the sales for retailer and publisher. R. E. SHERWOOD.

144 FULTON ST., NEW YORK CITY, Aug. 8, 1907.

OBITUARY NOTES.

ST. GEORGE KEMPSON, editor and proprietor of The New York Insurance Journal, died at St. Vincent's Hospital, Monday, August 12, following an operation for appendicitis. Mr. Kempson was born at Fort Erie, Canada, and was the son of Dr. P. Tertius Kempson, of the Royal College of Physicians, London, and a grandson of Sir Peter Kempson, of Birmingham, England. He was educated in Buffalo and began his career as a newspaper correspondent in 1874. He was a member of many clubs and benevolent organizations, among them the Metropolitan Museum of Art, Royal Arcanum and the American Trade Press Association. He was a trustee of the New York Press Club and a member of the Chicago Press Club and the Thirteen Club. He married Mrs. Grace Duffie Boylan, the well-known journalist, in 1905.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

AN American editorial board, consisting of twelve well-known scholars, has been established to co-operate with the British editors of the Hibbert Journal.

THE August number of The New Album of Modes, (Brentano's, New York,) has an interesting illustrated article on "Mrs. Fitzherbert and Some Unrecorded Incidents," by J. F. Meehan, of Bath, Eng.

The Independent of August 15 has a most interesting article on the Smithsonian Institution written by Dr. Cyrus Adler, who is Assistant Secretary in charge of the library and the Bureau of National Exchanges.

The Atlantic Monthly for September has an article by Brander Matthews on "Fenimore Cooper," one on "Shelley," by Arthur Symons, and one on "Elizabethan Psychology," by Edward Dowden. M. A. De Wolfe Howe contributes his view of "Personality in Journalism," and Anna A. Rogers tells "Why American Marriages Fail."

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

THE first volume of what should be a useful annual publication, "L'Almanach des Lettres Françaises," has just appeared in Paris. It contains a bibliography of the more important books published in 1906, articles on French fiction, poetry, history, criticism and drama, and information about the various literary societies, such as the Academy, the Goncourt Academy and the Société des Gens de Lettres. M. Jules Bertaut, who writes on fiction, says that the historical novel is practically dead, the psychological novel moribund and that the novel of passion and the novel of manners seem to promise best. M. Maurice Leblond seems not very sanguine of the future of poetry. The account given of history is more encouraging. M. Léon Bazalgette declares M. Aulard's work on the history of the Revolution to be equal, if not superior, to the best of Quinet and Michelet. The same author treats of criticism, and among the books which he says deserve special mention are two dealing with English literature. "La Poésie Anglaise au XIXe Siècle" and the "Pierres d'Oxford," by M. Georges Grappe, are, he declares, quite perfect and certain to become classics.

BUSINESS NOTES.

NEW YORK CITY.—Brentano's announce their removal during September to Fifth Avenue and Twenty-seventh Street, Madison Square, one block from Broadway.

NEW YORK CITY.—Judge Holt of the United States District Court, has granted a discharge from bankruptcy to William H. Young, 63 Barclay Street; liabilities, $13,902.

OSWEGO, KAN.—A. E. Townsend has succeeded to the book business of E. M. Daniels & Co.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.—The Holmes Company request that all correspondence be addressed to their new main store, 1158 Market Street. They have leased a large store, 20 x 113 feet, in a modern fireproof building, for a term of ten years. They are erecting hanging balconies all around the store, and will have a special room at the rear of the store, devoting it exclusively to scarce books, Americana, first editions, etc. The special feature of the store will be that every shelf will be within the reach of any one without the inconvenience of having to use a ladder.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Brentano's, who removed nearly three years ago from their well-known location on Pennsylvania Avenue, where they had been for nearly a quarter of a century, to the corner of F and Thirteenth Streets, have made arrangements to occupy the large building at the corner of F and Twelfth Streets, where they will have a store three times larger than their present location. They expect to move about October 15.

WHEELING, W. VA.—A new stationery and bookstore will shortly be established here by Joseph Trape. The new store will make a specialty of foreign books, and as there is no such store in the city at present it is expected that the stock will go fast.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE AMERICAN BAPTIST PUBLICATION SOCIETY announces that the price of their fine edition of "Beautiful Joe," with illustrations by Charles Copeland, to be published on September 1, has been changed from $1.50 to $1.25 regular.

THOMAS WHITTAKER, INC., has just brought out "The Call of the Father," by the Right Rev. A. F. W. Ingram, Lord Bishop of London. It consists of sermons preached at a progressive mission in East London, and has been put out both in a regular and in a limited popular form.

THE trade will note that the Standard Arithmetics, Readers and the Pronouncing Spellers, heretofore published by the Standard School Book Company and so credited in our Educational List for 1907, have been bought by the American Book Company. The publisher's abbreviation should be changed in the List to Am.

MITCHELL KENNERLEY has just ready an American edition of "2835 Mayfair," by Frank Richardson, who is making his reputation by his wit. The newspapers in London have quoted him to such an extent that his name has become as well known at the clubs and in smart society as at the libraries. The novel of Frankfort Moore, now nearly ready, bears the title "The Marriage Lease."

AMONG the Century Co.'s educational issues this fall will be a new and revised edition of Dr. Alexander Smith's "Laboratory Outlines of General Chemistry," prepared in collaboration with Dr. William J. Hale, of the University of Michigan. The earlier editions have been extensively rewritten, and in many cases simplified, and tables of solubility have been added and the method of using them indicated by questions.

D. C. HEATH & CO. have become the publishers of the Gildersleeve-Lodge Latin Series, edited by Professor Basil L. Gildersleeve, of Johns Hopkins University, one of the foremost classical scholars in this country, and Professor Gonzalez Lodge, of Columbia University, who, in addition to his superior classical training, has had extraordinary opportunities and experience in his connection with the Teachers College of New York City.

L. C. PAGE & COMPANY announce that the contest for the choice of a title for the new Little Colonel book closed August 1. Thousands of letters were received from children all over the United States, who are taking an interest in the matter, and many clever and suitable titles have been presented. The one finally selected is "The Little Colonel's Knight Comes Riding." The names of the fortunate prize winners will be announced very shortly.

JAMES POTT & CO. announce for September publication the following books of travel and biography: "Madame Lafayette and Her Family," by M. MacDermott Crawford; "To-Day in Palestine;" "Sunny Days in Italy;" "Famous Women of Two Reigns," by Mary Craven, an account of some of the fair women of the Stuart and Georgian times; "Madame De Staël and Her Lovers," by Francis Gribble, author of "Lake Geneva and Its Literary Landmarks;" "Norway and Its Fiords;" "Scotland of To-Day," and a new novel in the Cathedral Series on "Northern Italy."

MACMILLAN CO. will issue an important book this fall in "The Seven Ages of Washington," by Owen Wister. In this new work Mr. Wister has brought all his skill as a writer to bear on the task of condensing within the smallest reasonable space a comprehensive estimate of Washington's life, character and significance. Another interesting book of a biographical nature promised by this firm will be a collection of the "Letters of Dean Hole," one of the wittiest as well as the most learned of English clerics during the latter part of the last century.

VICTOR HUGO PALTSITS, the new State historian, Albany, N. Y., is desirous of procuring the following publications of his department, issued by his predecessor, which are out of print and needed to make up complete sets. Libraries or individuals having duplicates to spare are requested to communicate with him, in order that he may arrange for their transmission and acknowledgment. Only perfect copies are desired, and only the volumes specified: Colonial Series, vol. I. (1896); Clinton Papers, vols. I. (1899), II. (1900), III. (1900); V. (1901); Tompkins Papers, vol. I. (1898); Ecclesiastical Records, vols. I. and II. (1901); New York and War with Spain (1903).

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & CO. are again going through the experience of fighting a labor union, the Pressfeeders' Union in New York having demanded that, though mechanical pressfeeding machines have been installed in their plant, as many men as formerly shall be employed. The publishers have declared an open shop, and are at present somewhat hampered. Letters of explanation to advertising patrons have brought more than a hundred communications of encouragement, stating willingness to bear with whatever delay may be caused so long as the fight is kept up Last year, with a number of other firms, Doubleday, Page & Co. fought out a compositors' strike and succeeded in establishing the open shop upstairs. They have withdrawn from the Typothetæ in order not to involve other firms in this struggle.

R. F. FENNO & CO. have just ready "The Counterstroke," by Ambrose Pratt, which deals with Nihilism and its machinations; a Library edition of Kipling's works in ten volumes, including "The Phantom Rickshaw," "Plain Tales from the Hills," "The Light That Failed," "Soldiers Three," "Mine Own People," "In Black and White and the Gadsbys," "Letters of Marque," "Wee Willie Winkie and American Notes," "Ballads, Poems and Other Verses," and "Under the Deodars and The City of Dreadful Night;" also, a popular cloth edition of E. Phillips Oppenheim's story, "The Peer and the Woman." They will bring out in September "The Spotter," a story of the early days in the oil regions, by W. W. Canfield; "The Mistress of Bonaventura," a story of the Canadian Northwest; also, "Evelyn Van Courtland," a story by William Henry Carson, author of "Hester Blair."

JOHN W. LUCE & Co. are to publish the American edition of H. L. Mencken's "Friedrich Nietzsche." The work consists of a biography; an exposition of the most striking parts of Nietzsche's philosophy; chapters on his destructive criticism of government, law, manners, marriage, and education; discussion of his relations with Wagner and others, and essays on his forerunners, his critics and their criticism. The book has a bibliography and index. They have in press a small puzzle novel of the same class as "All by Wire." Its title is "Checkmated," and its form that of a checkbook, from which one reads the story of John Stuyvesant Snowdon's disposition of the fortune left him by Aunt Barbara Stuyvesant, who "knew how to live and when to die." Such other information as is needed to complete the chain of incident is derived from scraps of newspaper, and the whole is amusingly illustrated.

MCLOUGHLIN BROTHERS announce "The Story of a Fight from Concord Bridge to a Field at Yorktown," by Hugh Lloyd, (with a colored frontispiece and ninety half-tones,) which is American history for children built on the plan of a story, but is not historical fiction in any sense; "Stories of the Blue and the Gray," three volumes of historical stories for young readers, founded on fact, by Frank H. Sweet, with colored illustrations; "The Story of General Francis Marion," by Percy K. Fitzhugh, another volume in their successful Young Folks' Colonial Library, which has been highly praised by the press and the public; "The Wonderful Story of Teddy the Bear," written and illustrated, in colors, by Sarah Noble Ives, a beautiful story told for young people, containing a wholesome lesson, which promises to make a "hit;" also, "Judy, Pioneer Girl," a story of an American girl of the early days, and "Three Boys and Their Ambition," a story of old American boys for American boys of our day, both by Elizabeth Preston, forming two new volumes in their American Boys' and Girls' Library.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS announce for the latter part of the month a collection of stories by Eden Phillpotts, entitled "The Folk Afield." Those who are unacquainted with Mr. Phillpotts's talent in this direction have a rare treat in store. In these stories the author seems perfectly at home in the presentation of the humble folk of a dozen nationalities, and describes, as if he were painting familiar scenes before his own door, settings in lands the most remote from each other, and with characteristics the most diverse. At about the same time or early in September they will publish "Montaigne's Essays" in their French Classics for English Readers. This volume will contain what is best of the writer who may be described as the inventor of the essay. Early in September they will bring out "The Ghosts of Piccadilly," by G. S. Street, memories of the procession that has passed endlessly up the historic hill; two new Ariel Booklets—"The Purloined Letter," by Poe, originally published by Wiley & Putnam in 1845, and de Maistre's "A Journey Around My Room;" also, "Love Affairs of Literary Men," a new book by Miss Myrtle Reed, in which she briefly retells the stories of the loves of a group of writers who are assured, all of them, of immortal places in English literature. The title of A. C. Benson's latest book, to be ready probably at the end of September, has been changed from "The Pillar of Cloud" to "The Altar Fire." The book was originally announced as "From an Artist's Diary."

DUFFIELD & Co. have in preparation a work on "Painters and Sculptors," by Kenyon Cox, giving in a series of appreciations of individual masters a survey of the subject since the sixteenth century; "Houses for Town and Country," by William Herbert, suggestions for home builders collected from the work of the foremost architects in this country; "Historic Churches of America," by Mrs. N. U. Wallington, with an introduction by the Rev. Dr. Edward Everett Hale and many illustrations; "Plays of Our Forefathers," by Professor Charles M. Gayley, of the University of California; "Poems of Edgar Allan Poe," edited by Edmund Clarence Stedman and George E. Woodberry; "House Health," by Dr. Norman Bridge; "Gypsy Verses," by Helen Hay Whitney; "Familiar Faces," a new book of comic verse by Harry Graham, author of "Misrepresentative Men;" also, a new and specially illustrated Vermont edition of Miss Theodora Peck's successful novel, "Hester of the Grants." For young people they will have "The Bed-Time Book," with verses by Mrs. Helen Hay Whitney and pictures, in color, by Jessie Willcox Smith; Kate Dickinson Sweetser's "Boys and Girls from Thackeray;" Paul Harboe's "Child's Biography of Hans Christian Andersen;" Mrs. Harriet Blaine Beale's "Stories from the Old Testament for Children," with pictures in color by Roscoe Shrader and Herbert Moore, two promising young pupils of Howard Pyle; also, "Childhood," by Millicent and Githa Sowerby, a volume of verses and pictures in color by two sisters whose work has attracted much attention in England.

WILLIAM J. HAY, at John Knox's House, on High Street in Edinburgh, has just completed the second series of the interesting and valuable work entitled "Old Houses in Edinburgh." The series consists of twenty-seven plates, with descriptive text, as follows: (1) "Baird's Close, looking South," with a glimpse of the Castle; (2) "Baird's Close, looking North," noted for the famous upheaval known in history as "The Proteus Mob;" (3) "St. Cuthbert's Close, West Port;" (4) "West Port from High Riggs;" (5) "The Bowfoot, Grassmarket;" (6) "Court at the Bowfoot," the most picturesque roadway in Edinburgh—perhaps in Europe; (7) "Old Bowhead, Lawnmarket," of interest to the booktrade because it was in one of the old timber-fronted houses at the corner of the West Bow that the world-famed publishing house of Thomas Nelson & Sons had its origin; (8) "Somerville's Land, Lawnmarket;" (9) "Milne's Court, West Side," popularly called Mary of Guise's Palace; (10) "Milne's Court, Lawnmarket;" (11) "Gladstone's Land, Lawnmarket," showing the building said to have been owned by an ancestor of W. E. Gladstone, which stands nearly opposite the tenement in which Robert Burns found lodgings on his arrival in Edinburgh in 1786; (12) "Lady Stair's Close, Lawnmarket," (the house which gives it its name having recently been presented to the Town Council of Edinburgh by Lord Rosebery,) near which was the engraving and printing establishment of James Johnson, to whose Musical Museum Burns contributed so frequently; (13) "Brodie's Court, Lawnmarket," behind which still survives the hall of the Roman Eagle, a famous Masonic lodge of the 18th century; (14) "House of Adam Bothwell, Bishop of Orkney," one of the oldest and most interesting houses that have survived; (15) "Advocate's Close, High Street;" (16) "Carrubber's Close, from the North," where Allan Ramsay built one of the earlier Edinburgh theatres, and where James Ballantine, glass-stainer and poet, began his business; (17) "Carrubber's Close, from the South," which about the time of the Revolution, 1688-90, became the haunt and rallying-ground for the non-juring Episcopal clergy and Jacobite lairds, and where they erected their first modest chapel dedicated to St. Paul; (18) "Morrison's Close, High Street;" (19) "Trunk Close, from the South," where Sir Robert Kerr, an accomplished poet and courtier, lived in the reigns of James VI. and Charles I.; (20) "Trunk Close, from the North," an opening on the north side of High Street immediately west of John Knox's house; (21, 22) "John Knox's House, Netherbow" and a view from the rear, where John Knox spent the last three months of his life until his death on November 24, 1572; (23, 24) "Site of St. Mary of Placentia," two views of this famous nunnery from above and from below; (25) "Chessel's Court, Canongate," which has interesting associations in its relation to the career of the notorious Deacon Brodie; (26) "Canongate Tolbooth," the quaint and interesting building standing midway between Netherbow and Holyrood, which was not, as generally supposed, simply a public prison, but the building where public dues were collected; also, (27), "The White Horse Close, Canongate," associated, according to tradition, with a famous white palfrey belonging to Queen Mary, which was the trysting-place whence the Scot's nobles were to start on their projected but abortive expedition to Berwick to hold conference with Charles I. in 1639. The pictures are exquisitely drawn, on the spot, by Bruce J. Home, and, with two exceptions, depict the buildings as actually seen at the time. The two folio volumes, containing 54 plates, are sold at 24*s.* net. The work appeals strongly to the antiquarian and student of history as well as to those who may visit "Auld Reekie."

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print of five nonpareil lines, exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

All other small undisplayed advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their Communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

☞ In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash.]

☞ Write your wants plainly, and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precautions, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

The Lone Star

By EUGENE P. LYLE, JR.

Author of "The Missourian"

The story of Texas, with all its blinding color, its breathless action, with its Sam Houston, its Col. Bowie, its "greasers," Indians, Spanish Palaces, dancing, and pillage—a romance of history so fascinating that the reader will never get away from the facts. It is one of the most gallant romances of the day, and a really big story.

Memoirs of Adelaide Ristori

Translated by G. MANTELLINI

In this story of her life Madame Ristori has intimately discussed Legouvé, Gautier, Dumas, Scribe, and fifty others whose names are linked with brilliant fame. She has ranged through the incidents of a life rich with triumphs, in a spirit of simplicity and with the eagerness of a little child; while her splendid analysis of the great parts played by her is masterly and absorbing.

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY
298 Broadway, New York

The Publishers' Trade List Annual 1907

"The man who first spoke of the 'Publishers' Trade List Annual' as the 'Bible of the book trade' uttered a fitting phrase but used a simile that is open to at least one criticism. If the holy book was as often consulted by the public in proportion as the Trade List is by the bookseller the cry that it is a 'neglected book' would never be heard, for in every shop and in every public library this familiar 'jumbo' in pebbled green is in constant daily use."

—Bookseller, Newsdealer and Stationer

"No bookseller, even the humblest, if he knows his business, can afford to be without the 'Publishers' Trade List Annual,' often spoken of as 'the big catalogue book,' which contains the price lists of all the publishers of importance in the country."—The Newsdealer.

"It sometimes happens, we know, that a dealer in a fit of misdirected economy will try to get along with his last year's Annual, but the experiment soon becomes an aggravation, for he quickly finds out that he cannot afford to have his bibliographical equipment a whole year behind hand."

—The Publisher and Retailer

Two Points to Publishers

PUBLISHERS of forthcoming books to be issued during the Fall season of 1907 are reminded that the Fall Announcement Number of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, to be issued under date of September 28, is in many respects one of the most important issues of the year. Booksellers generally find it invaluable in making up their holiday orders and for descriptive selections for their own catalogues and circulars. Librarians also use it extensively in making up their purchase lists for the new season. Note then:

1st. That the dictionary reference list of new books to be issued will be made up as complete as possible from material procurable between now and September 10. It is therefore very important for all publishers to send in early lists in duplicate of their announcements, giving as much data as practicable of all forthcoming works.

2nd. That the number is especially valuable for advertising, since an ad. supplements the reference list and keeps your descriptive announcement immediately before the buyer during the period he is planning for the new season.

ISSUED FROM

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY OFFICE

The Publishers' Weekly

Recognized as the representative of the publishing and bookselling interests in the United States. Contains full weekly record of American publications, with monthly indexes, cumulated quarterly, news of interest concerning the book trade, lists of "Books Wanted," (an advertising feature which each subscriber can use without charge to the extent of 100 lines per year,) etc., etc. Subscription, $4.00 a year; to foreign countries, $5.00 a year.

The American Catalog, 1900-1905

Vol. I contains a five-year cumulation, Jan. 1, 1900-Jan. 1, 1905, giving in one alphabet, by author, title and subject, information of the books issued during the years covered by this period. It also contains a directory of over 3800 publishers, with street addresses. 8vo, half morocco, $7.50.

Vol. II or Supplementary volume gives the full-title entries with annotations printed in the Weekly Record of The Publishers' Weekly, cumulated into an alphabet for each year, i.e., into five alphabets 1900, 01, 02, 03, 04. This is planned to answer the demand of such libraries, bookdealers, and others as want the full material of The Publishers' Weekly bibliographical system in available shape. 8vo, half morocco, $7.50. The set of two, $15.00.

Of the previous series of THE AMERICAN CATALOGUE, quarto size, the earlier volumes are out of print. We have remaining a few copies of the volumes 1890-95 and 1895-1900, bound in half morocco, $15.00 each.

The Annual American Catalog

Contains in one alphabet a record of all books published during 1905, under author, title, subject and series entries; also under author's name an alphabetical list of the same titles with descriptive annotations from The Publishers' Weekly, etc. 8vo, cloth, $3.00.

Same catalog for 1906, $3.00.

The Publishers' Trade List Annual

Contains the latest catalogues of upward of 200 American publishers, contributed by themselves and arranged alphabetically by the firm-names, with smaller lists, fully indexed, at the end of the volume. Indispensable to every one who has any interest in the sale or purchase of books. Large 8vo, cloth, $2.00.

Index to the Publishers' Trade List Annual, 1902, out of print.

The Supplementary Index, 1903-1904, 500 pages, 8vo, cloth, with thumb index, $3.00. The alphabet in this volume is supplementary to the original Index of 1902.

The American Educational List

Contains a price-list of the text-books in use in the United States, arranged alphabetically by author's or editor's name, and a detailed subject-index, referring from each specific subject to authors of books on that subject. (Published annually.) 8vo, leatherette, 50 cents.

Whitaker's Reference Catalogue of Current Literature, 1906. (London, J. Whitaker & Sons.)

(The trade price-lists of all the British publishers.) 2 vols., half leather binding, $5.00.

The Library Journal

Official Organ of the American Library Association. Chiefly devoted to library economy and bibliography. Established in 1876. Published monthly. Subscription $4.00 a year, postpaid; single numbers, 35 cents. Price to Europe or other countries in the Union, 16s. a year; single numbers, 1s. 6d.

The Library Index to Periodicals and Current Events

Published monthly, with a quarterly cumulation (indexing the periodicals taken in most libraries, large and small). Subscription, $3.00 per year. Single monthly numbers, 25 cents; quarterly numbers, 50 cents each.

The Annual Library Index

Including Periodicals, American and English; Essays, Book-Chapters, etc., Bibliographies, Necrology and Index to Dates of Principal Events. Edited, with the co-operation of members of the American Library Association and of The Library Journal staff, by W. I. FLETCHER and H. E. HAINES. (Published annually) 8vo, cloth, $3.50.

English Catalogue of Books (Annual)

Containing a complete list of all the books published in Great Britain and Ireland in the calendar year, with index to subjects. 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

English Catalogue of Books, 1901-1905

The record of these five years in one continuous alphabet. (Seventh volume of series.) 8vo, half morocco, $20.00.

Directory of Publishers

Contains names and addresses of 3876 firms and individuals who issued books in the U. S. from Jan. 1, 1900 to Jan. 1, 1905. (Reprinted from The American Catalog.) 8vo, leatherette, red edges, $1.00.

The Profession of Bookselling

A handbook of practical hints for the apprentice and bookseller. By A. GROWOLL, managing editor of The Publishers' Weekly, author of "A Bookseller's Library." "Three Centuries of English Booktrade Bibliography," etc. Parts 1 and 2. 8vo boards, each $2.00. (Concluding part in preparation.)

Publications of Societies

A provisional list of the publications of American scientific, literary and other societies, from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Schedules nearly 1,000 societies issuing publications, and gives title-entries of all their publications, as far as data could be obtained from the societies and from libraries. 8vo, paper, $2.50.

State Publications

A provisional list of the official publications of the several States of the United States from their organization. Compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER. Part 1: New England States. Part 2: North Central States. Part 3: Western States and Territories. Part 4, (In preparation) Southern States. (For the complete work $10.)

OGILVIE'S TEACHERS' BIBLES—22 Styles

in minion and bourgeois types. Text Bibles and Bibles with helps and references in 16mo and 8vo sizes.

India Paper Edition, Red Letter Edition, Regular Editions, Sunday-School Scholars' Bibles

Nearly five years ago we were invited to become associated with those Bible publishers who are governed by an agreement to maintain high prices. We refused to do so. The wisdom of our refusal, and its importance to booksellers, becomes apparent when at this time we are able to say that our Bible business is entirely satisfactory, and Bibles of equal quality to ours cannot be purchased elsewhere at prices less than from 25 to 50 per cent. more than we ask for them. JUST THINK THIS OVER.

Any of our books can be purchased of us direct or of your jobber if more convenient to you.

Don't pay Dictionary Trust or Bible Combination prices for Dictionaries or Bibles. Buy our books and make more money.
